Street Soccer history

The history of Street Soccer traces its roots to urban communities where children and teenagers play football in small, unofficial fields. Street Soccer has a history in many countries, with many attributing its creation to Brazilian footballer Edson Arantes do Nascimento, known as Pelé. Pelé is often referred to as a leader in the "futebol de rua" (street football) game in the neighborhoods of São Paulo, where he developed his football skills before becoming famous on the world stage.

Street Soccer philosophy

Street Soccer is not just a game; it has evolved into a global culture, with events and tournaments taking place in various parts of the world. Moreover, it has played a significant role in social inclusion and raising awareness on issues such as poverty and inequality, as it allows everyone to engage in a sporting environment without limitations.

Street Soccer: general rules

The rules of Street Soccer are highly flexible and depend to a large extent on the area where the game is played. Street Soccer is characterized by freedom, creativity, and authenticity, so the rules are not as strict as in formal football games.

Street Soccer

basic rules

Number of Players: Typically, Street Soccer is played on small 2x2 or 3x3 pitches, with a limited number of players per team.

Game Duration: The game usually lasts for a short period, often with a limited number of goals or time.

Hand Gestures Rules: Various ball maneuvers and tricks are allowed, including dribbling, spins, and acrobatic moves.

Playing Surface: The game can take place in various environments, such as paved surfaces, asphalt courts, or other urban settings.

Our philosophy

Social Inclusion

We create an environment where everyone participates, regardless of age or abilities.

Authenticity

We encourage the expression of personality through the game, with flexible rules.

Social Awareness

Proceeds support children with autism, enhancing social well-being.

Street Fun

Street Soccer combines sports and fun in urban environments.

Our Goals

Our goal is to create unique football experiences that unite and entertain participants and audiences, aiming to support the community.

We aspire to expand the event to all regions of Cyprus, taking place in squares, coastal fronts, and parking areas of shopping centers.

Our contribution to society

The proceeds from all registrations of the 1st Cyprus Street Soccer will be donated to the charitable foundation "MIKROI IROES."

The "MIKROI IROES" Foundation began its operation in 2017 under the initiative of Loukas Furlas and is registered with the Registrar of Associations and Foundations of the Republic of Cyprus with registration number ΝΕΥ/1/23.

The Foundation's main objective is to provide psychological and financial support to families of children suffering from cancer and leukemia, who are either hospitalized at the Pediatric Oncology Department of Makarios Hospital or undergoing treatment abroad.

Additionally, it promotes, supports, and develops charitable actions, supporting the establishment of infrastructure, buildings, and equipment, as well as investing in research aimed at combating cancer.
